

FINANCIAL CONFIDENCE AFTER REDUNDANCY

Quayside

WEALTH
MANAGEMENT

Financial planning is about your life, not just your money.

Redundancy can be unsettling, even when it's expected. Alongside the emotional impact, there's often uncertainty about income, pensions, and what comes next.

This guide highlights three key financial areas to help you regain clarity, confidence, and control during a period of change.

1. Understand Your Immediate Financial Position

Start by reviewing redundancy pay, savings, and essential outgoings. Knowing how long your money needs to last can reduce anxiety and give you breathing space.

This isn't about making long-term decisions yet, it's about stabilising the present.

2. Review What Changes and What Stays

Redundancy can affect pensions, benefits, and protection policies. Understanding what continues, what stops, and what options you have helps avoid surprises later.

3. Think About Your Next Chapter

Redundancy can also be a reset moment. Whether you're planning a new role, retraining, or time out, your finances should support your choices.

How Quayside Can Help

After redundancy, many people feel unsure where to begin. We work collaboratively with our clients, taking on the majority of the financial organisation and analysis, while keeping you informed and involved.

Our role is to provide clarity and reassurance, helping you move forward with a plan that supports your life, not just your finances.

If you'd like support navigating your finances after redundancy, we're here to help.

Quayside Wealth Management Ltd is an Appointed Representative of and represents only St. James's Place Wealth Management plc (which is authorised and regulated by the Financial Conduct Authority) for the purpose of advising solely on the group's wealth management products and services, more details of which are set out on the group's website <https://www.sjp.co.uk/products>. The 'St. James's Place Partnership' and the titles 'Partner' and 'Partner Practice' are marketing terms used to describe St. James's Place representatives.

SJP Approved 02/04/2026

Senior Partner Practice

Quayside | WEALTH MANAGEMENT

St
James's
Place